Yakima Bait® Company...Steeped In Tradition, Innovation And Fishing Success.

Rooster Tail®, FlatFish®, Lil' Corky®, Spin-N-Glo®, Triple Teazer®, Worden's®, Poe's®, and Hildebrandt® represent iconic lure and brand name products that have withstood-the-test-of-time in regard to their popularity, fish catching ability, and sales volume. More recent successes like Mag Lip®, Big Al's Fish Flash®, Hawg Nose FlatFish®, Maxi Jig™, Fast Limit™ Kokanee Dodger, Spin-N-Fish & Yakima Bait Cut Plug, and Super Sally™ have propelled Yakima Bait into a new era of prominence among sport anglers and the wholesale and retail base that serves them.

The attention to detail during the initial lure design phase cannot be overstated, as each and every product must exhibit the correct action, sonic vibration, color scheme, hook, and rigging configuration that will entice sometimes finicky fish into striking. None of these qualities are taken for granted at Yakima Bait, from the use of quality material and components, assembly, plating, painting, rigging, and packaging – each and every manufacturing step is vigorously adhered to by our qualified lure crafters.

Paying attention to the fundamentals of lure design and quality of manufacture is what made R.B.Worden's Floating Spinner Company (later re-named Yakima Bait) succeed during its beginnings in the late 1920's and early 1930's, when his son Howard Worden joined the company, and what continues to guide the management team today.

KNOW HOW

ROOSTER TAIL®

Without a doubt, the most popular way to fish a spinner is to employ the cast-and-retrieve method. It's so easy, just tie a spinner on the end of your line, cast into a nearby body of water and reel/retrieve your spinner back to you. Strikes are easily identified but can, at times, be subtle as fish will take a spinner in a variety of ways; which might include arm-wrenching-strikes, swimming with the spinner while closing their mouth around it, or just stopping the blade from spinning. In all cases, it's important to set the hook hard, yank back on your rod tip, when noticing any change in spinner action. Of course, you can use Rooster Tail when trolling or jigging too, which are fishing methods used by anglers having a boat.

The attention to detail during the manufacturing phase cannot be overstated, as each and every product must exhibit the correct action, sonic vibration, color, hook and rigging configuration that will entice sometimes finicky fish into striking. None of these qualities are taken for granted at Yakima Bait where the fundamentals of lure design and quality of manufacture is what guides the company's management team.

Choosing Spinner Sizes

Rooster Tail spinners have the casting weight built into their design. The size/weight you choose depends on the expected casting distance and size fish you're after. In addition, the most productive size might be the one that is similar to the available forage. For panfish in lakes or trout in small streams a size 1/16 or 1/8 oz size is best. For larger water bodies, where casting distance will allow you to cover more water, try size 1/6 or 1/4.

Spinner Color

Spinners come in many colors, which can influence your success. If minnows are abundant, like shad or young trout or panfish try a silver, white, gray, yellow, blue, fire tiger, rainbow or brown trout color. When aquatic insects, amphibians (leech & frog) and bugs (grasshopper) are the main forage a black, brown, green or yellow color will often outperform others. On dark days or when the water is turbid try fire tiger, chartreuse, bright pink, orange, yellow."

KNOW HOW

FlatFish® Tuning

FlatFish produce fast action at the slowest of trolling speeds, which is what make this lure popular and effective. With the small sizes, say up to size F-6, speeds of ½ MPH or less are when these lures often produce best. Troll faster and they may roll or spin in the water. However, the cause could be that your plug is out of tune and needs a slight tuning adjustment. FlatFish can be fine tuned by turning (a slight amount) the pull-point screw eye the opposite way the plug is running. Try pulling your lure beside the boat and watch its action. If it broaches to the left, using a pair of needle-nose pliers, try turning the pull-point eyelet to the right (clockwise), if it swims to the right turn it counter-clockwise. Your goal here is to correct its center of pull, the screw eye, such that the diving lip draws equal amount of water on each side of the lip causing the lure to dive straight as it moves through the water column. You may be able to accomplish the same goal by simply eyeballing the pull-point eyelet and adjusting it until the screw eye is centered in relation to the lip. In rare cases, the eyelet may be straight, 90 degrees to the lip, but off center and need to be bent left or right to center it in relation to the plug lip.

Hawk Nose Flat Fish performs best in water speeds ranging from 1 to 5 MPH and develops a strike producing skip-beat (hunting) action when trolled or back-trolled in water speeds at or above 2-1/2 MPH - with its pull-point screw eye at the factory setting. This lure features a pull-point screw-eye that allows the lure to be tuned by turning the eyelet the opposite way the lure is running. Its hook hangers are HD stainless steel and fixed/embedded into the lure body.

You can enhance the effectiveness of this lure by adding a fillet of sardine or other baitfish to its belly. Your fillet should measure 1-3/4 inches long and 1 inch wide. For best results, center your fillet around the belly eyelet (skin side down) and hold in place by wrapping with light test mono or elastic thread – finish with three or four half hitches.

Hawk Nose Flat Fish is factory equipped with two pre-sharpened 3/0 treble hooks. Its swimming action is enhanced when rigged with a single hook. For best results crimp one size 5/0 or 6/0 open-eyed siwash single hook to a size 1/0 swivel and connect to lure via a size 8 split ring off tail hook hanger eyelet.

 UV FINISH STANDARD ON THESE SPIN-N-GLO'S

KNOW HOW

A buoyant, noise producing spinner that can be rigged alone or in combination with bait and catch nearly any fish species that swims, best describes this unique lure.

AS A BAIT FLOATER

When still-fishing/plunking, Spin-N-Glo's buoyant body can be used to float live bait or prepared bait above bottom where cruising fish can quickly see/find it as compared to a bait lying on the bottom. In addition, the spinning action produced by river current, tidal or wave movement helps attract fish to this lure or lure/bait combination. When using in combination with a sinker, leader lengths can vary from 18-to-36 inches. Try a short leader when fish are hugging the bottom, like during the middle of the day when the sun is bright. A longer leader may produce best when fish are cruising higher in the water column, like during low-light, overcast conditions, or when fish are migrating.

TROLLING

Spin-N-Glo can be trolled by itself or in combination with lake troll, dodger or flasher, which may impart additional action to this already lively lure; for example, many anglers trolling for Trout, Kokanee, Lake Trout, Walleye, Steelhead, Salmon, Stripers, and Halibut will rig Spin-N-Glo 18-to-48 inches (12 inches for Kokanee) behind a trolling sinker/bottom walker or attractor and may add bait to the trailing hook. Anglers trailing a worm behind their Spin-N-Glo will often rig two (2) hooks in tandem, which helps nab short striking fish.

DRIFT FISHING

River anglers often employ drift fishing as a way to improve their odds of encountering fish as compared to still fishing. To rig: attached your main line to a swivel, your weight may be a pencil or slinky style, a leader of 18-to-30 inches with your Spin-N-Glo threaded on the leader above a small plastic bead and hook. You can use Spin-N-Glo by itself or in combination with bait. It's easy, just cast out, across and upstream and allow your outfit to drift along in the current using just enough weight so your outfit will skip bottom every few feet. If your outfit stops drifting, or you feel a bite, set the hook. Once your drift is complete, reel in and cast again. Drift fishing is a series of casts, drifts and retrieves.

BACK-TROLLING

When back-trolling in rivers, Spin-N-Glo is often used to add action to a bait trailing 24-to-50 inches behind a buoyant river diver (or plug used as a divers). Spin-N-Glo helps float your bait just above bottom where it's less likely to hang up.

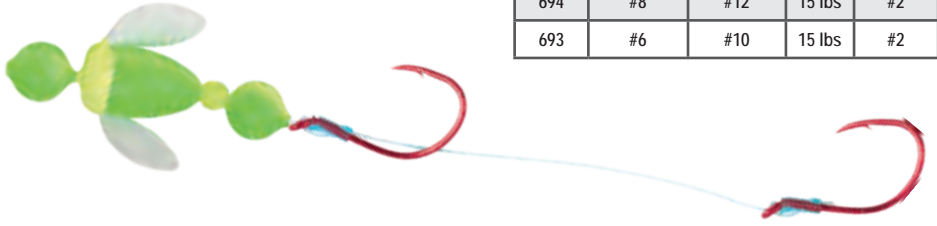

RIGGING TIPS

While Spin-N-Glo is available rigged on a spinner wire with beads and a hook, the majority of anglers like to rig their own, which is why you will often find this product sold as individual bodies. It's easy: just snell hook to leader, add one or two plastic beads (as bearings), and slide your Spin-N-Glo down the leader to your hook.

Pad print ink color available is black. This service requires a 288 each minimum per size on plugs. Finishes can be mixed as few as 72 per standard or custom color. Add $1.00 retail per lure. Note: Some lures or logos do not lend themselves to this option. See your Yakima Bait Sales Manager for details.

HOW TO ORDER

Explain to us (sales manager or factory representative) what you have in mind and send us a live sample, drawing or photograph. We will then build a sample and send or email a photograph to you for approval.
